

Script:

(intro music with scenes from apcsp class)

Zoom in shot into the building shot going into the class

Michael is victim of a phishing attack (nigerian prince asking for money night before)

He wants to prevent his employees from future phishing attacks in the future but lowk doesnt know what hes talm bout

Michael bursts into the office and says

Michael - "everyone i have an announcement, attention please"

(Intro music with random APCSP class clips. Someone typing aggressively. Dwight staring directly into camera. Jim spinning in chair. Michael pretending to understand a computer.

Zoom-in shot of school building/classroom.)

Scene 1: Main Office

(Michael storms into the office carrying his laptop and loose papers.)

Michael - Everyone, I have an announcement. Attention please.

(Camera cuts to Jim, Pam, and Dwight working.)

Jim - Whenever he says that, it's never good.

Pam - Last time we lost internet for three days.

Dwight - I survived off-grid.

Michael - So... perhaps...

(dramatic pause)

Michael - Hypothetically... someone in this office may have been the victim of cybercrime.

(Everyone pauses.)

Pam - What happened?

Michael - I do not want to embarrass anybody.

(Pause.)

Michael - But somebody may have wired money to a Nigerian prince.

(Silence.)

Jim - A real prince?

Michael - Yes, Jim. Why would someone lie about being a prince?

Dwight - Classic phishing attack.

Michael - Exactly.

(Points aggressively at Dwight.)

Michael - Thank you, Dwight. Finally someone here understands international relations.

Pam - Michael... how much money?

Michael - That's not important.

Jim - How much money?

Michael - Three hundred dollars.

(Pam stares.)

Michael - And a Chili's gift card.

TALKING HEAD — JIM

Jim - Michael got scammed by the oldest trick on the internet.

(pause)

Jim - Honestly I didn't know those still worked.